In the summer of 1988 twenty-two year old John Bostock, better known as ' Boss ', returns to Liverpool from his travels with many tales to tell to friends Carl and Legger. Boss has spent four months in the U.S.A. courtesy of the ' Camp America ' programme. He has gained great life experience. The greatest experience of all proves to be his encounter with Annie Haier, a young, Jewish American and fellow counsellor. The relationship begins as a friendship but develops into a deep and passionate love affair. The couple decide to plan their future together despite the natural barrier of the Atlantic Ocean. In April 1989 Boss and Legger attend the semi-final of the F.A. cup at Hillsborough. Like thousands of others they have a traumatic experience. Life is never the same again. Boss eventually suffers from P.T.S.D. and opts for counselling at the Hillsborough Centre in Liverpool. He meets fellow survivors who are racked with guilt and full of anger and begins the long climb back to happiness. In June 1990 Boss returns to the U.S.A. where it all began, to seek an emotional reunion with Annie, the love of his life.

"Seventh grade besties Fonda, Drew, and Ruthie navigate crushes and friend drama as they plan for their 7th grade overnight school trip"--

This book is a concoction of the poet 's thoughts on a person they have an unquenchable crush on. The poet is not a very direct person and uses metaphors, riddles, and many other language tricks to embody what they intend to say. In the poem, " The Dream ", the poet talks about watching the earth flood as he sits at the brink of the cumulonimbus, but as he continues through the poem it unravels to the reader that the poet is not talking about the real flood or cumulonimbus, instead the poet uses all those meteorological terms as a way to censor their language. In many other poems like " imagine ", the poet expresses their love and admiration for their crush and the things they wish they could do together. contact: brentee01@gmail.com (author)

Engineers need to acquire " Back-of-the-Envelope " survival skills to obtain rough quantitative answers to real-world problems, particularly when working on projects with enormous complexity and very limited resources. In the case studies treated in this book, we show step-by-step examples of the physical arguments and the resulting calculations obtained using the quick-fire method. We also demonstrate the estimation improvements that can be obtained through the use of more detailed physics-based Back-of-the-Envelope engineering models. These different methods are used to obtain the solutions to a number of design and performance estimation problems arising from two of the most complex real-world engineering projects: the Space Shuttle and the Hubble Space Telescope satellite.

Devin McGovern, ultra-successful plus size model, thought she had life figured out when she found acceptance using her curves to make money. Every photo shoot, ad campaign, and spread in a magazine gives her another decadent taste of vindication. She dips her spoon in that sinful satisfaction drizzled in hot fudge with every dollar hitting her bank account. Each contract serves as one more slap in the face of the people who had mocked her as a teenager. After ten years coaching college football at the University of Southern California, TJ Bennett jumps at the chance to escape LA with his daughter, Rory, and return to his roots in Tallulah Cove. Being a single father proves even harder when Rory hits her preteens and loses herself in the struggle to fit in with her peers. Eager to give her the nurturing sense of community he 'd been raised with, he takes a job with the local high school as their head football coach and moves back to town months ahead of their next season to settle his daughter into small town life. TJ knows Devin 's presence in Tallulah Cove is only temporary and in no time at all, she 'll be jet-setting through life again, but who better to give his daughter a little perspective on being true to yourself and who you are? The best part, she 'll be gone before he can lose all sense and gamble his heart away.
